WEDNESDAY, September 26, 1750.

STOCKHOLM, May 27.

THERE arrived yeſterday two extraordinary couriers, one from Verſailles, and the other from Berlin, with diſpatches of very great importance, as we gather from the holding of a council of ſtate immediately; but nothing tranſpires of any reſolutions taken therein. All we know is, that this morning an expreſs was diſpatched to Baron Roſen, who commands in Finland. Affairs continue as they did between us and the court of Peterſburg, notwithſtanding which, our military and naval preparations go on with the utmoſt vigour, and two regiments of infantry, and one of horſe, have actually received orders to encamp in the neighbourhood of this city.

May 29. Notwithſtanding all matters in Finland ſeem perfectly quiet and eaſy; yet ſeveral engineers and other experienced officers have been ſent to the Baron de Roſe, governor general of that province, in order to be employed by him in ſuch particular ſervices as he ſhall judge moſt proper.

Peterſburg, May 19. Letters have been received here from Gilham, a province in Perſia, which mention a new revolution in that kingdom; alleging, that Ibrahim Schah having had the misfortune to loſe a battle, had fallen into the hands of his enemies, who had cauſed his eyes to be put out, and had elected a new Schah in his room. Theſe letters add, that the different factions in that empire, which were continually waging war with each other, had almoſt ruined ſeveral of their fineſt provinces.

Hanover, June 5. A council of ſtate was lately held at Herenhauſen, which laſted three hours, and immediately after it was over, couriers were diſpatched to ſeveral courts. It appears, that the moſt perfect harmony reigns among the foreign miniſters reſident here. The marquis de Valori is well received at court, and a general opinion prevails, that all diſputes in the North will be amicably compromiſed.

Hague, June 9. By a ſhip which arrived laſt Saturday from Surinam, we are informed, that the inſurrection of the Negroes was quite ſuppreſſed by a company of burghers, headed by their captain, who, after coming up with the rebels, had killed ſome, and taken ſeveral priſoners, who were carried to Pyramaibo, and there executed publicly; the few remaining were ſo diſperſed about the woods, that it was thought they muſt periſh through want. The letters received on this occaſion, attribute the revolt to the tyranny of monſ. Thomas, the man whoſe plantation was deſtroyed, and himſelf and his family murdered by a Negro ſlave, whoſe wife monſ. Thomas had taken away, and who, in order to gratify his revenge, engaged all the other ſlaves, who were diſcontented with their maſters, to join with him in his attempt. Notwithſtanding this news, the troops deſtined for that place are to be ſhipped off in a few days, and the officers who are to command them, have received orders to repair immediately to Naerden, where they are now aſſembled.

Naples, May 18. O. S. By a French ſhip which arrived here, a few days ago from the Levant, we hear that the Baſhaw of Rhodes is ſtill kept a cloſe priſoner at Malta, and that it is yet uncertain what will be his fate.

Leghorn, May 21. O. S. We have advice from Algiers, that the affair of the Engliſh packet-boat the Prince Frederick has been reconſidered, and the ſhip and effects condemn'd as a lawful prize. An eighth part was adjudged to the Dey.

Leghorn, May 23. O. S. We hear that a corſair has taken ſeveral veſſels upon the coaſt of Sardinia, among which was a Genoeſe ſhip with a very rich cargo. We alſo hear that above 600 veſſels are employ'd in thoſe ſeas in fiſhing for coral, under the protection of ſome Neapolitan chebecks.

Madrid, May 22. O. S. The court has ſent divers orders to Carthagena and other ports, for the frigates and other arm'd veſſels to go out, and cruize upon the Barbary corſairs, as is ſuppoſed. The ſhips that have ſailed from Cadiz and Ferrol cruize along the coaſts from Galicia to the Streights, in order to ſecure the ſquadron of admiral Spinola (which is expected hence in about a fortnight) from the inſults of thoſe pyrates.

Turin, May 22. O. S. Laſt Thurſday the king and the duke of Savoy ſet out, in order to meet the ducheſs of Oulx. The duke went from thence to Sezane, upon the ſummit of Mount Genevre, where he had the firſt interview with his royal ſpouſe. From thence they came together to Oulx, where the king received them, and cardinal de Lances gave them the nuptial bleſſing; and tomorrow their royal highneſſes will make their public entry into this city. The rejoicings upon this occaſion are very great. The miniſters from France, Spain, and Naples, have had the character of ambaſſadors conferred upon them; and 'tis thought the imperial miniſter will be inveſted with the ſame upon account of this marriage.

Warſaw, May 26. O. S. It has been reſolved to make the Viſtula more navigable; a work which will coſt about 11000 ducats, one half of which is already collected.

The 22d inſt. a courier was ſent to Peterſburg with ſome important diſpatches relating to the election of a duke of Courland.

Vienna, May 30. O. S. The affair of the election of the king of the Romans takes a very good turn, as we are aſſured; moſt of the electors appearing diſpoſed to give their votes for the arch duke Joſeph. The affair of the inveſtitures is alſo taking a very good turn; for beſides the arrival of Baron Meuzing, who is charged to receive the inveſtiture of the dominions of the margrave of Anſpach, we are aſſured that ſeveral other princes will ſpeedily follow that example.

A ſcheme has been preſented to the empreſs for obliging the clergy all over the hereditary countries to pay their quota in the taxes and other public charges. This ſcheme has been referred to the council, in order to conſider of the means to put it in execution.

Frankfurt, May 30. O. S. Tho' the people of Alſace have obtain'd that the impoſition of the twentieth penny ſhould be reduced one half in their favour, they expreſs great diſcontent at being put on the ſame footing with the other ſubjects of France in reſpect to the public burthens, pretending that regard ought to be had to their antient rights and privileges. But what affects them moſt ſenſibly is the impoſt on tobacco, which has occaſioned that branch of commerce, which gave bread to ſome thouſands, to be entirely dropt. Letters from Lombardy adviſe, that public prayers are put up in that country, particularly at Milan, to obtain a ceſſation of the exceſſive rains, which threaten the deſtruction of the fruits of the Earth.

Bruſſels, June 2. Upon advice of the diligence uſed in repairing the fortifications of Mons, the French have given orders for repairing and augmenting thoſe of Landreci, Mezeires, and Charleroi. What was ſaid of Tournay being entirely dismantled, is evidently falſe; it is only ruin'd. The French did not touch the other fortifications, unleſs it was during the ſiege.

Ratiſbon, June 3. O. S. According to Letters from Munich, the elector of Bavaria, at the repeated inſtances of his ſubjects, has iſſued an edict for abridging all proceedings at law in his dominions.

Aix-la Chapelle, June 5. O. S. The affairs of the empire which are of themſelves ſufficiently embroil'd, are likely to be put into more confuſion by means of different intereſts in matters of religion, the diſcuſſion of which may perhaps be attended with ſome bad conſequences. The reſolution lately taken by the evangelick body in the affair of Hohenloe, makes well diſpoſed people under ſome concern for the public tranquility. The point in queſtion does not conſiſt merely of ſcholaſtick diſputations, proceedings in the aulick council, and repreſentations to the head of the empire, but troops are to be ſent, and juſtice obtain'd by force of arms. The proteſtant director of the circle of Franconia is order'd to put things in the condition the proteſtants would wiſh to have them; and if he cannot accompliſh it by gentle methods, he is to have recourſe to arms. At the ſame time the ſtrongeſt aſſurances are given him, that if any catholic prince ſhould oppoſe him in it, all the proteſtant electors and princes will ſend a body of troops to ſupport him. We are very impatient to know how the imperial court will look upon this reſolution, and whether the meaſures which the emperor, as head of the empire, will take to prevent the impending ſtorm, will meet with the wiſh'd for ſucceſs.

Paris, June 8. O. S. Laſt Saturday the king went a hunting wild boars, and killed one with his own hands of a monſtrous ſize.

It is currently reported, that the clergy will not be made to pay the twentieth penny, in the ſame manner the reſt of the king's ſubjects do, i. e. by giving an exact account of their revenues, but by way of free gift, which is to be much larger than any made to his majeſty at their former meetings.

Utrecht, June 11. O. S. By Letters from Paris we hear, that a courier is gone from thence to Stockholm, another to Copenhagen, and a third to Warſaw, with diſpatches relating to the affairs of the North. The deciſion of thoſe affairs now depends on the reſolution which the empreſs of Ruſſia may take, in conſequence of the declaration made to her miniſter at Berlin, which is the ſame in ſubſtance as that which M. de Wahrendorff is to make to the Ruſſian miniſtry, as ſoon as he can obtain a public audience. Computing the time in which the above declaration may have reached Peterſburg, we reckon to hear in about a fortnight, how it is reliſhed by the Ruſſian court, and whether this ſeaſon will paſs over without war in the North.

Letters from Rochelle and Rochfort inform us, that the villages in the neighbourhood of thoſe two ſea ports, are ſadly peſtered by prodigious numbers of wolves, which co abundance of miſchief, notwithſtanding all the pains taken by the inhabitants to deſtroy them.

Edinburgh, May 29. His majeſty has been pleaſed to grant to Simon Frazer, Eſq; eldeſt lawful ſon of the deceaſed Simon late lord Lovat, a full and free pardon of remiſſion on account of his acceſſion to the late unnatural rebellion.

Briſtol, May 5. By letters from Tortola, one of the Virgin iſlands belonging to Great-Britain, there is advice, that on account of the unhealthy Northerly winds that have blown there for a conſiderable time, a great ſickneſs had ſeized almoſt all the iſlands, and carried off many people; particularly at Tortola all the phyſicians and ſurgeons were down with the diſtemper, being a fever, but not that of the yellow kind; ſo that many perſons from the ſeveral iſlands were gone to Santa Cruz, a fine iſland belonging to the king of Denmark, ſome to eſcape the diſeaſe, and others for recovery. At the ſame time divers Engliſh families from the Britiſh ſettlements in the Weſt-Indies were removing to Santa Cruz with their effects having purchaſed lands for raiſing ſugar, &c. This iſland (which formerly belong'd to the Britiſh crown) being flat, and pretty free from woods, affords a healthy and pleaſant ſituation, and upon this account, as well as for the mild government and goodneſs of the land, ſo many Engliſh families are already ſettled there, that 'tis computed they make up two-thirds of the inhabitants.

LONDON.

May 23. William Duncalf, now a priſoner in the New Goal, Southwark, charged with being concerned with James Cooper in the robbery and murder of Robert Saxby, near Croyden in Surrey, having a mortification in one of his feet, it was thought proper, by the advice of ſeveral eminent ſurgeons, in order to preſerve him, if poſſible, for public juſtice, to cut off his leg a little below the knee, which operation was performed yeſterday. A very extraordinary and melancholy diſcovery has been made by theſe unhappy wretches of a robbery they committed upon William Jackſon of Addington, a farmer, in a lane called Addiſcomb lane, near Croydon in Surrey, on Saturday the 12th of February 1749; for which fact John Shelton and Charles Kellett, two farriers, were indicted, arraigned and tried at the laſt aſſizes held at Guilford, for the ſaid county: The proſecutor ſwearing poſitively to John Shelton, he received ſentence of death, and was executed for the ſame. They expreſs great remorſe on that account, and declare if they had known that the poor innocent man had been under that dilemma, they would have done the utmoſt in their power to have convinced the proſecutor, that they themſelves committed that fact. Pity it is that mankind were not more cautious in ſwearing, where life is concerned; for it is a very juſt maxim, that it is better that ninety nine guilty perſons ſhould eſcape, than that one innocent perſon ſhould ſuffer.

Extract of a Letter from Stockholm, June 18. N. S.

"This morning an expreſs arrived from Peterſburgh, upon which an extraordinary council was immediately called, and the king and the prince ſucceſſor attended at it. A few hours after, a courier was diſpatched to Paris, and another to Berlin. We hear, that at the ſame time orders were ſent to admiral Taube, and the other principal ſea officers, to ſuſpend provi-ſionally the furlows they had granted to part of the ſailors: And as there is certain advice, that the Ruſſian fleet has ſailed from Cronſtadt, it is very probable that ours, which has been ready for ſome time paſt, will not ſtay much longer in harbour, as it is neceſſary it ſhould be out to obſerve the motions of the Ruſſian fleet."

Extract of a Letter from Peterſburg, June 27. N. S.

"Within theſe few days the court has received divers expreſſes from Vienna, Berlin, and Hanover, and the great chancellor, count Beſtucheff, has been in cloſe conference with the Britiſh miniſter on the contents of their diſpatches. It begins to appear Sweden and her allies will not eaſily be brought to our terms; ſo that if we are forced into a rupture, the beſt card we can play, is to endeavour to kindle a civil war in that kingdom, under colour of preſerving their liberties."

July 5. The hon. the Eaſt-India company have received advice, that the Reſolution Grabb, a ſhip of war in the company's ſervice, that uſually convoys the trading ſhips from one port to another in the Indies, is taken by Angria the pyrate, after a ſmart engagement.

BOSTON, Auguſt 20.

Wedneſday laſt, about one o'clock in the afternoon, there was a ſudden ſhower of rain, with high wind, thunder and lightning, when the barn of Mr. James Richards of Dedham, of about 43 feet in length, and 30 in breadth, will filled with hay, rye and barley, and a good number of farmers utenſils in it, was ſtruck with the lightning, and conſumed, with almoſt every thing in it: The loſs to the ſufferer is very conſiderable.

We hear from Hallifax, that Capt. Foſter was arrived there from England, and has brought with him 150 recruits for governor Cornwallis's regiment.

About a week ago a ſloop arrived here from Philadelphia, with about 40 Palatines, who we hear are going to ſettle in the eaſtern parts of this province.

And a few days ago Capt. Day arrived here from Ireland. He brought out 186 people, not one of whom died on the paſſage. He put into Hallifax, where he diſpoſed of twenty odd ſervants, the reſt, being paſſengers, intend to ſettle in this province, to whom we wiſh all poſſibe ſucceſs and encouragment.

Extract of a Letter from Cadix, dated July 9.

'We would not adviſe you, or any of your friends, to 'have any concern in grain, for there is ſo great a glut of 'wheat and barley here now from all parts, your people find 'great difficulty in diſpoſing of it, and we ſee no proſpect of 'its being better, as there are veſſels coming in daily with 'freſh ſupplies; and for want of buyers on board, people are 'landing their grain in order to be retail'd out of the ware-'houſes for the moſt it will yield, for the markets up the 'Streights give no encouragement to make a trial of them.'

By a gentleman juſt come in from Cadiz we are told, that there were 250 veſſels with grain in that harbour when he left the place.

New-London, in Connecticut, Auguſt 15, 1750.

Yeſterday arrived here from Barbadoes, the ſloop Ranger, Nathaniel Lewis, maſter, who hath depoſed, That on the 24th of July ult. he went from Barbadoes intending for Turks-Iſland.-----That on the 26th he fell in with a ſhip, which he judg'd to be 250 Tons, clean bottom, well arm'd, and mann'd by appearance with 2 or 300 men, the ſhip brought Lewis within muſquet ſhot, hail'd him, inquir'd who he was, from whence whence he came, and where bound; and were answered properly.---On which the ship fired a whole volley of small arms into the sloop, kill'd the man at the helm dead on the spot. Lewis finding himself in a bad scrape, and loth to fall into the hands of so piratical a crew, run up his sails, and attempted an escape, soon got the heels of the ship, and received no other damage, though the ship continued the fire till beyond cannon reach.
